Scott,

Yes, your paper may be shared.

And on the schedule - because of the complexity of this site, the EPA has decided that additional information is needed prior to a recommendation of a cleanup alternative. Once this is completed, the EPA will announce a proposed alternative that will be available for public comment. The EPA will also host a public meeting during the comment period to allow public participation in the remedy selection process. The EPA has not set a timeline for this, but will continue to communicate with the community on the progress.

Hi Gary-

Just left you a message. Is it kosher for us to share our comment letter for the NRRB? I assume that it is public record, but as the TAG recipient I do want to work with EPA as appropriate on these disclosure issues.

Also, do you have any updates on the schedule moving forward?

Thanks-
Scott
